

Acknowledgment to reviewers of clinical investigation journal

Submitted: 28 November 2020; Accepted: 17 December 2020; Published online: 28 December 2020

Sinerik Ayrapetyan

Editorial Office, Clinical Investigation,
London, UK

*Author for correspondence:
sinerikay@hotmail.com

Editorial Note

On behalf of the editors of the Clinical Investigation Journal, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the reviewers for assessing manuscripts. The editors greatly appreciate the contribution of reviewers who have dedicated their valuable time and efforts in reviewing the assigned manuscripts, which is crucial to the journal's editorial decision-making process. The Clinical Investigation Journal follows a double-blind peer-review process, where the identities of both the authors and reviews are not disclosed, to avoid any biases. It is a meticulous job to devote to scrutiny, requiring not only thorough reading, study, and commentary, but also a willingness to proceed with a manuscript through numerous revisions. There have been several steps taken by the Journal to thank and accept the reviewers. For its reviewers, who accept the reviewer invitation, the Journal has an Editorial submission scheme that creates a unique id and password. Reviewers can submit their comments either to the journal's email Id or directly to the submission system by creating an account on the Editorial submission system. Also, they can access details of their past reviews and can download a letter of acknowledgment for their records. On successfully completing the reviewing of 5 manuscripts, by each reviewer, submitted to the Journal the reviewers are entitled to get an official reviewer certificate from the Editorial team. Reviewers' feedback reveals that most see their role as unpaid and often unnoticed work in the interest of the scientific community.

The Clinical Investigation Journal is an international peer-reviewed journal and one of the preferred journals in the field of clinical drug development and methodology. The first issue of the journal was published in the year 2011 and since then it is growing continuously and publishing a sufficient number of articles in each issue successfully with the active support of the reviewers. The main aim of the journal is to publish high-quality, authentic, relevant, and up-to-date research going on in the field of medicine and clinical researches. Clinical Investigation Journal is an open access that allows online publications of relevant articles in the field of clinical drug development and methodology. Clinical Investigation Journal is a quarterly journal and publishes articles in English and every article is rigorously peer-reviewed and is published online within 45 days after acceptance.

The individuals who are listed below have provided peer-review of the manuscript which was submitted to the Clinical Investigation Journal. With their consistent support and advice, a total of 14 articles are published from January 2019 to November 2020 by authors belonging to different geographical locations across the world. They receive no remuneration for their work and still took out time from their busy schedules to read and evaluated manuscripts submitted to the Clinical Investigation Journal from December 2019 to November 2020.

I thank them, as well as the editorial staff, for their invaluable work.